Stock Market Review

Bullish sentiments prevailed in the best ever month of the KSE as the market was in the process of pricing in yet another rate cut announced in the Oct Monetary Policy Statement. The KSE-100 strode into un-chartered territory rallying 2.97% or 459 points as of close on 31st October, 2012 at 15,910. The last week of the month was mostly dominated by corporate results and the same influenced stock specific movements. The rally also got additional push from a hefty USD38.5mn FIPI inflow during the month of Oct '12. Average daily volumes declined to clock in at 86.6mn shares compared to 90mn shares traded in the previous month – down 6.20% MoM. Oil and Gas, Cements and Food and Personal Care segments were amongst major gainers while Automobile, General Industrials and Telecoms were amongst the major losers in the benchmark KSE-100 during the month of October 2012.

Going forward, the present momentum of the KSE is expected to remain alive on the back of yet another discount rate cut in Dec, probability of which would rise with the upcoming CPI numbers to be announced early next month. In addition to this, election triggers may provide an additional thrust to the market.

KSE-100 Index Performance

Early this month, the market witnessed another 50bps discount rate cut to 10% via SBP's bi-monthly monetary policy; this interest rate softening also reflected in the declining KIBORs (6MK down 69bps to 9.51%) and T-bill yields (6M T-bill down 55 bps to 9.20%). Regular OMOs continued in October whereby around Rs. 2.4 trillion at a weighted average yield of 9.11% was injected in the system causing the market to stay relatively liquid this month. Three T-bill auctions were also conducted during October in which bids worth Rs. 735 billion were accepted against a target of Rs. 700 billion. A PIB auction was also carried out in which around Rs. 25.5 billion was accepted by the government, majority of which was subscribed in the 3 Years slab (16.5 billion at a cut off yield of 10.39%).

On the forex front, the rupee stayed under pressure, depreciating by 98 paisas in the interbank market and 90 paisas in the open market. This weakening is expected to continue in the coming months in light of the strain on national forex reserves due to IMF loan installments.

With the next monetary policy scheduled to be announced in the first week of December, in light of the overall market conduct during October and the CPI data expected early in November, a slight twist in the market sentiment has been sensed which remains in favor of further discount rate cut.
