 - iii. The performance of the allocation plan may be affected by changes in risk associated with trading volumes, liquidity and settlement systems in equity and debt markets.
 - iv. Unit Holders are not being offered any guaranteed returns.
 - v. The CPPI Methodology shall be used for capital preservation. In the event the methodology does not accurately evaluate and determine a suitable asset allocation pattern or the structure of portfolio, this may impact the ability of the allocation plan to provide capital preservation upon its Initial Maturity.

- vi. The allocation plan, in its endeavor to seek capital preservation, may allocate the entire portfolio to underlying investments in the sovereign Income or Money Market Components and Units of the allocation plan may remain invested in such investments for the entire/remaining tenure of the allocation plan without any participation in the equity component.
- vii. At times of high volatility in the equity markets or any other circumstances, it may not be possible to carry out the portfolio rebalancing. In such a case, the reallocation may take place on the next business day or on a business day as deemed appropriate by the Management Company. Such circumstances may affect the allocation plan's ability to seek capital preservation.
- viii. This risk pertains to the Gap event where the Portfolio Value falls below the Present Value (bond floor) of the capital preservation amount required at maturity.
- ix. As the allocation of portfolio changes from Equity to full sovereign Income or Money Market Components consequent to steep fall in equity markets, there may be no participation in subsequent upward movement in the equity component while the allocation plan remains invested entirely in the sovereign Income/Money Market component.
- x. If the allocation plan for any reasons as determined by the Management Company is terminated, the NAV of the allocation plan will be subject to fluctuations in its asset value. The Net Asset Value, in this case, may be lower or higher than the Initial Investment Value. The Management Company will refund investors their investment in the allocation plan based on the NAV per Unit after deducting bank and administrative charges (if any). Capital preservation in this case might not be valid.
- xi. There may be times when a portion of the investment portfolio of the allocation plan is not compliant either with the investment policy or the minimum investment criteria of the assigned 'category'. This non-compliance may be due to various reasons including, adverse market conditions, liquidity constraints or investment –specific issues.
